

Steve Hagopian Pitchboard & Comp

stevehagopian.com

In order to better illustrate and market my skills in computer science engineering, website design, video game development, and graphic design, stevehagopian.com will host my portfolio.

Smart. Simple. Sleek.

Design and creativity has been a lifelong passion of mine. With over three years of coding experience and a strong devotion to my craft I want to share my projects with others using a portfolio-styled website. Some projects I would like to share include AutoSim, a simulator that allows users to have a detailed experience into the world of auto racing, and Steve's Sports Blog, a website I designed in my MI349 class.
